I'm using the overlay on a single screen Iracing setup and it works great. No performance hits and a much better option to using tablets/V phones for dash info.. I loved how realistic some of the displays appeared, really well put together.

Only downside of this for me was that the app stopped working after 2 hours of use due to some Windows issue or app issue who knows but I do not have the time to tinker with things to make them work.

Would recommend this for any race fans out there looking for a realistic display on a separate display screen or custom made dash board
